Rev. Ira Partin has been called to preach at Harmony Baptist church, where he has served for four years. The church is in the midst of his neighbors, and this call shows that Bro. Partin is a good man and stands close to his people. He is an earnest worker in the vineyard of the Lord.

Danville Court.

Advocate:—T D English reports several hundred cattle on the market a considerable number changing hands at prices ranging from 3 to 4 cents a pound. Few horses and mules on the market and the demand very light. The crowd was larger than usual and nearly all kind of business was lively.

We are Used to It.

A NORTHERN editor froze to death a few days ago. He should have taken his initiatory degree in journalism down here in Kentucky. The editors down in this neck of the woods have been up against the freeze out game for so long, that Greenland's ice mountains would be a verticle Garden of Eden to them.—Harrodsburg Sayings.

Franchise in Livingston.

The Independent lines have secured the franchise for a telephone exchange in Livingston, and now have full control of the wires in that town. This gives the Independents an unbroken chain of all the towns clear through to the Tennessee line and up into the mountains. Lancaster has the best telephone service in the state, and the outside connections cannot be surpassed.

Stock Pens Rented.

Mr J F Adams has rented the Lancaster Stock Pens, and now has full possession. He will keep the scales, etc., in good repair and have hands constantly ready to wait upon customers. If you have weighing of any kind, call on him and you will be given good service, promptly. The pens will be open for sales at all times, and plenty of room can be had on court days.

Harrodsburg Paper Sold.

A dispatch from Harrodsburg says Messrs. John G. Pulliam and D. Mack Hutton, news editor and foreman respectively of the Harrodsburg Democrat, have purchased of R. L. Marion the Harrodsburg Sayings and will assume possession Monday. Both are well-known newspaper men. Mr. Marion has been in Salt Lake City for several months, and has decided to make that place his home.

Twice Ever Thus.

THE world is full of microbes. The tramp is a parasite that eats bread of honest toil; the bore is a parasite that devours the time of the busy man; the gossip is a parasite that destroys the happiness in many a home with words of sugar coated venom, the slanderer is a parasite that murders character; the hypocrite is a parasite that entraps the unwary with falsehoods while wearing the mask of fairness.—Ex.

Fortune for Hemp Crop.

The Lexington Leader says Wigglesworth Bros. last week sold to the Jacobs Cordage Co., of Cincinnati, 400,000 pounds hemp, the consideration being $20,000. It was one of the largest hemp deals made in this section of the country this season. The farm of the Wigglesworth Bros. contains 275 acres, and is located on the right hand side of the road on the Russel Cave pike, about six miles from the city. It is said to be one of the finest pieces of hemp property in the country. For the past two years the Messrs. Wigglesworth have sold their hemp crop for $18,000 and $20,000. Mr. T. G. Wigglesworth is manager of the industry.

Senator Farris' Rabbit Law.

The bill introduced by Senator Geo. Farris to prevent the killing of rabbits during certain months is likely to be considered out of place at first thought, but the object of it is good. All farmers know that during the time the quail are protected, a number of hunters go out and say they are killing rabbits, when their real object is to shoot quail. Now, by prohibiting the killing of rabbits, there will be no excuse for the hunters to offer, consequently it will work to a great advantage in protecting the birds. This seems about the shortest and best way to reach the desired point, so don't jump on George's rabbit law too hastily.

Notary Public.

Geo. Smith, Jr., has been appointed a notary public. As he has been clerk of the pension board for several years, he is thoroughly qualified to fix up and certify all kind of pension papers. See him when in need of this class of work.

$3,000 for Widows and Orphans.

JACOB JOSEPH, Record Keeper of Lancaster lodge of Maccabees, received $3,000 for Mrs. Nannie Hamilton and Mrs. Margaret Stevens, whose deceased husbands were members of that lodge. The former gets $2,000 and the latter $1,000. These claims were paid soon after proof of death went in. The order has a large emergency fund, a young membership and is conducted on business principles. It has 530,000 members, consisting of professional and business men of all classes.

Garrard County Medical Society.

The Garrard County Medical Society will convene in Lancaster on Friday Jan. 24th, at 3:30 o'clock p. m., in the New Garrard Hotel. The following is the interesting program of the meeting: Dr. Carpenter, Stanford, "Follicular and Peri-follicular Erythrits, with Uriary Infiltrations." Dr. Walker, Paint Lick, "Broncho-Pneumonia. Its Etiology, Pathology and treatment." Important business requires a full attendance of the members. Jan. 20, 1902. H. M. Grant, Sec'y.

Jason Joskins Tonight.

This, Thursday, evening, the well-known down east comedy-drama, Jason Joskins, will be played at the local opera house. The company carries a fine band and orchestra, and the singing and dancing specialties are way ahead of anything seen here this winter. The play is full of fun, while the plot is deep enough to keep the interest from beginning to finish. A pure, wholesome evening's enjoyment is promised those who attend. Reserved seats on sale at Stormes' drug store.

What Our Schools Cost.

Kentucky pays an enormous amount to teacher young ideas how to shoot. During the last fiscal year, she paid $1,480,000. Of this amount county superintendents received $78,500, or an average of $660. The average cost for teaching was $6.50 for white and $7.40 for colored pupils. The tax levied in counties to supplement teachers' salaries was $74,000. Private subscriptions to teachers amounted to $15,000. During the year 7,600 teachers taught in the white schools and 1,200 in the colored schools. The total census enrollment of white children was 520,000 and of colored children 75,000. There is no excuse for any of them to grow up ignorant.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

"Even" Stanford and Lancaster.

"With Danville's wealth, population and institutions, she should by all means possess a better play house. Even Stanford and Lancaster, with their population of only one thousand each, can lay Danville in the shade with their handsome and commodious play houses."—Danville Advocate.

Now arn't that horrible for "little hamlets" like Stanford and Lancaster to even think of having anything better than the GREAT metropolis of Danville. Its weally hawful. By the way, this reminds us of what a fellow said the other day. He had recently moved to Danville, and was moving his affects away when a friend asked why he was leaving that city. "Well," he replied, "there's nobody there but dudes and dummies, the dudes wont speak to me and the dummies cant, so I packed up and left."

Night Watchman.

By reason of the recent burglaries and fires in so many localities, nearly all the business men in town have signed an agreement to pay one dollar each per month to Mat Siler to remain up all night and look out for such trouble. He went on duty last Saturday, and each man's place of business is visited several times during the night, and a careful inspection of the property made. Siler has been sworn in as a constable, and is empowered to make arrests if necessary. It is the understanding with the gentlemen in the arrangement that should Siler observe burglars, or find fire, a signal is to be made on the fire bell that each will readily recognize. Most of those interested have supplied themselves with suitable fire arms, and if Siler's alarm is made, he will soon have ample help at hand. With this man on constant duty, together with Mr. Turner, the night policeman, it's a safe prediction that the property will be well looked after. Mr. Turner is one of the best night policemen we have ever had, but his duties keep him off the Public Square most of the time. In case of fire, Siler being on the Square, it will be impossible for it to gain much headway before he would see it. He carries keys to many of the stores.

FRANKFORT.

A Brief Visit to the Capitol. A Peep at Legislature and a Handshake From the Governor.

It was our pleasure to spend a few hours in Frankfort recently, and see the legislative horses go round. Judging from the work, or, more properly speaking, the lack of work done by recent legislatures, one is lead to believe that this session will amount to about the same, do nothing, draw pay, look wise and come home not much better off than before meeting. But a look at the body leads us to believe that much good will be accomplished this winter. The members are fine looking gentlemen, well dressed and far above the average in intelligence. We met nearly all of them, our mission requiring considerable buttonholing, and found them to be gentlemen conservative and sensible. They all seemed interested in their work and we never heard politics mentioned during our stay, strange as it may seem. Garrard's representative, Hon. R. H. Tomlinson, is a very popular member, and was placed on several of the most important committees. He was exceedingly kind and attentive to the press boys, and one of them said, "If your man Tomlinson ever wants anything at the hands of this committee, he can certainly get the best in our shop."

One of the best known men in Frankfort is Senator Geo Farris, of this city. He stands among the top-notchers in his party, and a recommendation from him will get most anything wanted. He was placed on some of the most important committees, and is considered a leader in the Senate. He was also very kind to our little band of quill-drivers, and made warm friends of the entire lot.

We had the pleasure of calling upon Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, in his private office, and never received a more cordial welcome or enjoyed a more pleasant chat. Those people who dubbed Gov. Beckham the "boy governor" would feel like crawling off the earth if they were to meet him and become better acquainted with him. He is dignified, as plain as an old shoe, and has the happy faculty of making a man feel at home as soon as being introduced. When it is remembered that Gov Beckham was placed at the helm when the state was in so great a tumult and partisan feel ran so high, and that his administration has been so just and smooth as to almost brush away the strife and bitterness, it is, indeed, a remarkable work for man to accomplish. Very few party men would have missed the opportunity to express his feelings in his message, but this, the level-headed young executive refrained from doing, and for this he is entitled to the greatest praise.

A great many important measures have been introduced in the assembly, and it is believed some much needed legislation will be had. Several commissions are to be established and already there are numerous applicants for the jobs. There is considerable talk about the erection of new state buildings, and while all know the burning need for them, yet there is a difference of opinion as to where they should be located. The present old rattle-traps are a disgrace to the state, and if they are not torn away soon, they will fall of their own accord.

Frankfort is a lively little place during the meeting of the legislature, but we understand it is dull and lonesome at other times. A crowd stood about the court house where Howard was being tried, but time being limited we didn't look in at the proceedings.

For the benefit of our newspaper friends, we will say that the committee had fairly good success in its mission, a bill being drawn to be presented to the legislature, which embraces what the craft wishes and what the people should have.

JUDGE M. C. SAUFLEY

Tells of the Remarkable Return of His Comrade Through the Influence of a Medium.

By John G. Pulliam, of Harrodsburg.

As announced in the papers Circuit Judge Mike Saufley appeared in the old fiddlers' contest at Stanford Friday, and friends at Harrodsburg will try and persuade his honor to draw the bow at a similar entertainment to be given there by the ladies of the First Presbyterian church.

"Uncle George" Dabney Coleman will be on hand with a fiddle made nearly 200 years ago. He is eighty-four years old, but there are people who will go broke that he can fiddle all around the Judge when it comes to such tunes as "Brown Kitty," "The Devil's Dream" and "Black-berry Blossom."

Speaking of Judge Saufley in connection with a fiddle recalls the first time your correspondent ever met the jurist, which was at Stanford about twenty years ago. A crowd of us were seated on nail kegs around a store in a grocery store with cob pipes in our mouths and the smoke therefrom was ascending and dallying with the cobwebs on the rafters when he came into the place and greeted us pleasantly. All except myself were acquainted with him. When one of the others introduced us he said that during the war he messed with a Georgian by my name who was the greatest fiddler in the Southern army; and he had a favorite tune that he played nearly all the time. At the close of the war each went his way and he never knew what became of his messmate. About fifteen years after the surrender he and two friends happened to be in a distant city, and noticing in the papers that a famous medium was also there, his companions decided to call on her and persuaded him to go along. He watched with interest many mysterious things that took place, and finally the medium, addressing him, said:

"There is a spirit that desires to communicate with you."

"Who is it?" asked the Judge, and to his amazement she gave him the name of his fiddling companion of war days.

As stated, the Judge did not know what had become of his old comrade, and to say he was dumbfounded at the information that he had been in the spirit land for five years is expressing it mildly. The Judge was incredulous and so told the medium, and asked her to say to the departed that at the only way his doubts could be removed was for him to play the same old tune on the violin that he had heard him play so often in camp and which he had never heard any one else render. The dead fiddler, through the medium, assented if they would get the violin. One was secured and placed on the table in the center of the room. Soon the tightening of the strings could be seen, then the noise accompanying the tuning was heard and in a few seconds the old familiar war-time tune commenced and was played through.

A CONVICT serving a term in the Missouri penitentiary has been convicted of murder and sentenced to death. It is stated that he will have to be pardoned of the penitentiary sentence before the last judgment can be executed. This is the only convict doing time that does not say his sentence to the penitentiary is unjust, and therefore wants a pardon.

WHITE murderer was sentenced to hang in Mississippi alongside of a negro, who had committed the same offense. The white man has raised a howl and says he will not be hung on the same scaffold with Rastus. As they will both land in perdition at the same time, they will doubtless be put to kicking chunks side by side, so there's no reason to parley over the starting point.

ITS any old thing to get before the public these days. Prof. Chas. W. LOCAL OPTION LAW.

Mr. Farris introduced the following bill, which was read the first time and ordered to be printed, viz:

An act for the better enforcement of an act approved March 10, 1894, entitled "An act whereby the sense of the people of any county, city, town, district or precinct may be taken as to whether spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold, bartered or loaned therein," and to amend section 4 of said act.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky: § 1. In an indictment for a violation of any provision of the act approved March 10, 1894, entitled "An act whereby the sense of the people of any county, city, town, district or precinct may be taken as to whether spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold, bartered or loaned therein," it shall not be necessary to allege that a vote was taken or an election held, or any other step relative thereto; but it may be simply stated that the act or acts charged were committed in a territory where the said act was in force; and in said indictment it shall be sufficient to designate said act as the local option law.

§ 2. It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, lend, give, procure for, or furnish to another, any spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or to have in his possession spirituous, vinous or malt liquors for the purpose of selling them in any territory where said act is in force, and any person so offending shall be fined not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars, and imprisoned not less than ten nor more than fifty days.

The possession of a United States special tax stamp (commonly called United States license) for carrying on the business of a retail dealer in spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or the having of such tax stamp or license stuck up at the place of business in such territory shall be prima facie evidence of guilt under this section.

§ 3. On the second or any subsequent conviction for a violation of said act, or any of its amendments, the court shall require the defendant to execute bond in the sum of two hundred dollars to be of good behavior for the period of twelve months.

The court may, in its discretion, increase the amount of the bond, and if the bond is not given the defendant shall be committed to the county jail for a period not exceeding ninety days, to be fixed by the court.

§ 4. All the shipments of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors to be paid for on delivery, commonly called "C. O. D. shipments," into any county, city, town, district or precinct where said act is in force shall be unlawful and shall be deemed sales of such liquors at the place where the money is paid or the goods are delivered; and the carrier and his agents selling or delivering such goods shall be liable jointly with the vendor therefor.

§ 5. Section 4 of said act is stricken out, and in lieu thereof the following is inserted:

"After the entry of the certificate of the canvassing board as above provided for, in the order-book of the county court, if the vote was given against the sale, barter, or loan of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors in the said county, city, town, district or precinct, as the case may be, to any person, except as hereinafter provided; and any person who shall sell, barter or loan, directly or indirectly, any such liquors in said county, city, town, district or precinct shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than sixty nor more than one hundred dollars, or be confined in the county jail for not less than ten nor more than forty days, or both so fined and imprisoned, in the discretion of the court or jury, for each offense; and any person who knowingly furnishes, or rents a house, room, wagon, or any conveyance or thing, in which spirituous, vinous or malt liquors are sold, bartered or loaned, in violation of this act, shall upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than sixty nor more than one hundred dollars, and the house, wagon, vehicle, land or other thing in which the liquors were sold, bartered or loaned shall be liable for all fines adjudged against the person selling, bartering or loaning the same."

Finds Way to Live Long.

The startling announcement of a discovery that will surely lengthen life is made by editor O. H. Downey, of Chubbuck, Ind. "I wish to state," he writes, "that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is the most infallible remedy that I have ever known for Coughs, Colds and Grip. It's invaluable to people with weak lungs. Having this wonderful medicine no one need dread Pneumonia or Consumption. Its relief is instant and cure certain." R. E. The annual clearing sale of R. L. Jennings & Co. is now going on. Every thing in heavy goods, such as Boots, Comforts, Blankets, etc., will be sold at sweeping reductions to make room for Spring Goods.

Dr. W. G. Cassenburg is getting to be somewhat of a real estate dealer. He recently bought the Slaughter property and sold it to William Champ for a nice profit. He then bought the property of Mr. W. S. Myers for one thousand dollars.

If burglars should ever attempt to rob our bank here, some of them will be found on the ground the next morning, for two of the worst men we have in the county sleep in the bank every night and they a regular arsenal in there.

At half past one o'clock Tuesday morning Mr. Armp Adams breathed his last. He had been confined to his bed for a year or more, and bore his afflictions and passed away without a murmur. He was in his seventy-eighth year, and leaves a lonely wife to mourn his loss.

We notice in the last issue of THE RECORD a letter from our old friend and neighbor D. C. Pullins of Conway. We are glad to know that he is well pleased with his mountain home situated by an old fashion wood fire cooking shins, for if any body ever did enjoy a thing of that kind he certainly does. I am in hopes he has struck it rich, the prospect for oil is good and gas will be found in paying quantities since Dave has located there.

Tom Champ is smiling behind the counter of Moore & Champ. Miss Florence Abbot, of Shelbyville, is the guest of Miss Jennie Parks. Mr. W. F. They have requested her to teach the next term.

MANSE.

Will Crow Doty, of Montgomery, Ala., gave the home folks a very pleasant surprise Wednesday night. He arrived home and appeared as one of the guests of the party, En Masque. He will probably be at home several weeks, and take a much needed rest. Mr. James Doores of Lancaster, is visiting his niece, Mrs. Jno. Doty, Jr. Miss Georgia Dunn has returned to Marksburg after visiting relatives here. Miss Jennie Kavanaugh has accepted a position as governess for Mrs. Nannie Blount, near Paint Lick. Will Henderson made a business trip to Jellico, Tenn., last week. Rev. McClung has been in Nicholasville several days. Green Clay Walker, of Lancaster visited Ollie Wallace last week. Mrs. Martha Prather has been visiting her parents in Madison. The Manse Glee Club stormed the young folks at Capt. Doty's Wednesday night. Every one was masked and represented some special character. Time and space for bids a description of each costume, however they were all very comical and grotesque. The Paint Lick band furnished the music. All declared they never spent a more enjoyable evening. Those present were: Misses Mattie McCormack, Jennie Kavanaugh, Sue Ogilvie, Elvree and Jennie Wallace, Florence Burnside, Georgia Dunn, Sue Higgins, Annie Burke, Frank and Bessie Doty, Messrs. CANCER

Sufferers from this horrible malady nearly always inherit it—not necessarily from the parents, but may be from some remote ancestor. For Cancer often runs through several generations. This deadly poison may lay dormant in the blood for years, or until you reach middle life, then the first little sore or ulcer makes its appearance—or a swollen gland in the breast, or some other part of the body, gives the first warning.

To cure Cancer thoroughly and permanently all the poisonous virus must be eliminated from the blood—every vestige of it driven out. This S. S. S. does, and is the only medicine that can reach deep-seated, obstinate blood troubles like this. When all the poison has been forced out of the system the Cancer heals, and the disease never returns.

Cancer begins often in a small way, as the following letter from Mrs. Shiner shows: A small pimple came on my jaw about an inch below the ear on the left side of my face. It gave me no pain or inconvenience, and I should have forgotten about it had it not begun to inflame and itch; it would bleed a little, then scab over, but would not heal. This continued for some time, when my jaw began to swell, becoming very painful. The Cancer began to eat and spread, until it was as large as a half dollar, when I heard of S. S. S. and determined to give it a fair trial, and it was remarkable what a wonderful effect it had from the very beginning; the sore began to heal and after taking a few bottles disappeared entirely. This was the first of my Cancer, and I am now free from it. I am now free from it. I am now free from it.

Send for our free book on Cancer, containing valuable and interesting information about this disease, and write our physicians about your case. We make no charge for medical advice.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Senate Committee reports favorably a bill to grant Mrs. McKinley a pension of $5,000 a year.

Mayor Grainger has been asked by German citizens to visit Louisville.

A well of fine lubricating oil, having an estimated capacity of fifty-eight barrels a day, was brought in at a depth of 212 feet, about fifteen miles southeast of Henderson.

Fatal kidney and bladder troubles can always be prevented by the use of Foley's Kidney Cure. C. C. & J. E. Stormes.

Lieut. Gen. Miles has issued orders for the movement of 5,233 men to the Philippines to replace an equal number of men who have seen long service in the islands.

Gen. Chaffee has issued an order to the troops in the Philippines to perform certain exercises in marksmanship, their fire at present being too inaccurate to be satisfactory.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annato Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly ward off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Sold by R. E. McRoberts, druggist.

The Supreme Court of Tennessee upheld the act of the Legislature permitting towns of 2,000 inhabitants to repeal their charters and adopt new ones in order to take advantage of the four mile law against saloons.

Frank Rakowski, a United States soldier, was sentenced to be dishonorably discharged from the service and to serve a term of ten years in the military prison on Alcatraz island for threatening the life of President Roosevelt.

The census, says Director Merriam, shows the South is now growing as rapidly as the North. The large Southern cities do not increase in population as fast as those of the North, but the increase of rural population and of the smaller cities in the South is greater than in the North.

Mayor Grainger has made a demand on the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland for the amount of Stuart R. Young's shortage. It is believed all the shortage, with the possible exception of the amount said to be improperly charged to Mr. Young's account by the Union National Bank, will be paid at once.

Be Your Own Doctor.

So Says an Old Dutch Proverb.

A woman is naturally her own doctor at thirty, and less if she is at all delicate.

Unnatural modes of dress, tight lacing and high heeled boots, and the violation of the laws of health are the usual cause of diseases peculiar to women, but there are many other forms of disease to which all women are subject through their causes.

The functional disorders of women usually are suppressed menstruation, painful menstruation, and profuse menstruation.

Bradfield's Female Regulator will find a wonderful aid and invigorator during the trying time of periodical pain, acting directly on the delicate organism in such a way as to reduce the discomfort in the greatest possible degree, and most remarkably relieves all distress occasioned by suppressed menstruation. Bradfield's Female Regulator establishes regularity of the menstrual flow, cures all forms of abdominal pain, and restores the system to its normal condition. Price $1.00 per bottle.

The feeding of cut green bone to poultry is no longer an experiment; it has demonstrated its great value.

The American Sheep Breeder estimates about 45 per cent. of the usual supply of lambs being fed this year.

The Kentucky Live Stock Breeders' Association will ask the Legislature to give $15,000 annually in premiums for exhibits at a State Fair.

Many products are spoiled in putting them up for market. Quality is as important as quantity, and should be as earnestly sought after in the products of the farm.

It cannot be too well understood that plant life cannot be sustained without proper feed any more than animal life can. Make safe and apply all the manure possible.

A western stockman says do not buy up all the scrubs of the neighborhood because they are cheap, and expect to make feeding profitable. Study the type of animal to feed, and feed no other.

T. H. Stevens, of Lexington, sold to Rome Respass a couple of two-year-old colts for $6,000. One is by Wardsworth, dam Modjeska, a brother to Marito, and the other by Wardsworth, dam Clara K., a brother to Bristol.

J. M. Walter, of Mercer county, shipped the past year 536 cattle, 3,814 hogs and 3,328 sheep, bought in Mercer, and which brought $63,055.73. This doesn't include 1,000 cattle he bought in Anderson county that cost $10,000.—Harrodsburg Deflector.

The matter of stock dying from eating new fodder; worm dust, sorghum, etc., has been thoroughly investigated by the Illinois agricultural college, which states that the deaths are due to nothing more than a sudden change of feed and that the worm dust on the corn is not harmful.

Danville Advocate.—B. G. Fox & Co., have purchased of Wils Dunn the dead game race mare, Della French, 2:15, by Ashland Wilkes, dam Bettie Wilkes, by Egbert, dam Edgar, 2:16. Della French went a quarter in 31 seconds, the last eighth in 15 seconds. Price private.

Feeding straw instead of hay to work horses that do not work much in winter is a practice that a great many farmers have never pursued. Those who have tried it like it very much. The straw acts as a divisor in the ration and with grain the horses will do as well as when fed hay. When the work is hard the team will require good hay.

Pot hunters should remember that the quail season closed with the new year, and that there is a fine of $3 for each bird killed or found in one's possession, and there is no good reason why any one violating the law should not be punished. If any man really loves quail and quail hunting he ought to be a friend of the bird, and help preserve him.

An agriculture exchange says these are hard times. We let our timber rot and buy fencing. We throw away ashes and buy soap. We raise dogs and buy bugs. We grow weeds and buy vegetables and brooms. We catch fish with a $4 rod. We build school houses and send our children to be educated away from home. And lastly, we send our boys out with a $40 gun and a $10 dog to hunt ten cent game.

Elizabethtown News.—Our mule feeders have been quite busy this week getting rid of some of their long eared quadrupeds. The following shipments were made from here to Atlanta: R. B. Park, one car load; W. H. Gardner, one car; Gardner Warren Implement Co., one car; Krimble & Kennedy, one car; Rod Warfield, two cars; and Krimble & Kennedy, one car from Sonora. The market is exceedingly dull and not a single buyer has appeared here this season. Nearly all the feeders will lose the cost of their feed which is about $15 a head. Mr. Park did reasonably well on his car load, receiving $107 a head.

Cruelty to animals is not limited to inhuman drivers, who beat their horses without mercy. The careless farmer who lets his horses run in a field of cornstalks all winter, without attention and without any other feed than what the half-starved animals can pick up for themselves, might justly go accused of more than carelessness. A straw stack is a very poor wind-break. There are many, though, who do not realize that they are constantly losing, by putting their horses in a field, and then apparently forgetting them, although they know it when the horses leave the field. To such people I would say, build sheds or keep your horses in your barns.—Cor. American Agriculturist.

Don't Live Together. Constipation and health never go together. DeWitt's Little Early Risers promote easy action of the bowels without distress. "I have been troubled with constipation nine years," says J. O. Greene, Depauw, Ind. "I have tried many remedies but Little Early Risers give best results." F. P. Frisbie.

A Scheme that Failed.

If a smooth, business-like stranger comes along and wants to buy your farm, you just tell him at once to go "away back and sit down."

One of his kind bought a farm over in Boyle county the other day, and the parties went to town to close the deal. The first payment was to be $2,500. The stranger drew his check on a Memphis bank for $2,550 and wanted the difference in cash, as he was "a little short on expense funds." But this "old hayseed," being somewhat of a business man himself, took the precaution to have his banker make inquiry of the Memphis bank before handing over the $50. The answer came promptly and stamped the check as utterly worthless. The farmer then went out to look for the stranger, who, by the way, had enjoyed the hospitality of his home for quite a week, but he was nowhere to be found, and has not since made his appearance in those parts.

In Bed Four Weeks With La Grippe.

We have received the following letter from Mr. Roy Kemp, of Angola Ind. "I was in bed four weeks with la grippe and I tried many remedies and spent considerable for treatment with physicians, but I received no relief until I tried Foley's Honey and Tar. Two small bottles of this medicine cured me and I now use it exclusively in my family." Foley's Honey and Tar has long been a household favorite for all throat and lung troubles. Refuse substitutes. Henry Perkins, a bustling colored boy, has arranged to give an old man's cake walk at the court house Friday night, the 7th. Many well-known old colored men will participate. Admission 25c. 1-23-11

A Fool Gets Bad.

No sensible man will get angry because a newspaper man asks him for money due. A dun is not an impeachment of a subscriber's integrity, but simply an outcropping of a publisher's necessity. For instance, a thousand men owe a publisher from one to four dollars each. He has to ask them all to help pay expenses. Instead of getting angry and stopping his paper, the subscriber might thank the publisher for waiting on him so patiently, and exert himself, borrow money on interest if necessary, pay up, when lack of funds owed by delinquents keep the printer on the anxious seat fifty two weeks of the year.—Blue Grass Clipper.

A Good Recommendation.

"I have noticed that the sale on Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets is almost invariably to those who have once used them," says Mr. J. H. Weber, a prominent druggist of Cascade, Iowa. What better recommendation could any medicine have than for people to call for it when again in need of such a remedy? Try them when you feel dull after eating, when you have had a bad taste in your mouth, feel bilious, have no appetite or when troubled with constipation, and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which they afford. An Unkept Grave.

TAKE a walk through a cemetery and you will pass the last resting place of a man who blew the muzzle of a gun to see if it was loaded. A little further down the slope is a crank who tried to see how close to a moving train he could pass. In strolling about you will see the monument of the girl who tried to start a fire with kerosene, and a grass-covered knoll covers the boy that put a cob under a mule's tail. That tall shaft before the man who blew out the gas, casts a shadow across the grave of a boy who tried to jump on a moving train. Side by side the eternal creature who always had her corner laced to the last notch and the intelligent idiot who rode a bicycle nine miles in ten minutes, sleep on undisturbed. At a repose is a doctor who took some of his own medicine. There, with the top of a shoe box driven over his head is an old man married a young wife. Away over there reposes the boy who went fishing on Sunday and the woman who kept strychnine in the cupboard with tooth powders. The man who stood in front of a mowing machine to oil a sickle is quiet now, and rests beside the brakeman who fed himself to a 70-ton engine; and over in the potter's field may be seen the bleaching bones of the man who tried to whip the editor, while only a short distance away rots another carcass which even the buzzards refuses to touch—the man who got his home paper on credit and refused to pay for it.—Ex.

Brain-Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for brains. A correct diet will not only furnish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Stormes' drug store. Get Green's Special Almanac. 6m

REMARKABLE CURE OF COUGHS.

A Little Boy's Life Saved.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere of Goodwin, S. D., and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today.—Joel Demont, Jewell, Iowa. An Editor's Mail.

The Fourth Estate, of New York, credits to "Exchange" the following verse paragraphs under the heading of "A Country Editor's Mail."

Editing a paper is a nice thing. If we publish jokes, people will say we are rattle-brained; if we don't we are an old fossil.

If we publish original matter, they say we do not give enough selections; if we give selections, they say we are too lazy to write.

If we don't go to church, we are a heathen; if we do, we are a hypocrite. If we remain in the office, we ought to get out and hustle for locals; if we go out, we are not attending to our business.

If we wear old clothes, they laugh at us; if we wear good clothes, they say we have a pull.

Child Worth Millions.

"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. Mary Bird of Harrisburg, Pa. "yet I would have lost her by cough had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for coughs, croup and throat and lung trouble. An absolutely safe cough cure which acts immediately. The youngest child can take it with entire safety. The little ones like the taste and remember how often it helped them. Every family should have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure handy. At this season especially it may be needed suddenly. F. P. Frisbie.

"They talk about a woman's sphere. As though it had a limit. There's not a place in earth or heaven; There's not a task of mankind given; There's not a blessing or a woe; There's not a whisper, yes or no; There's not a life or death or birth; That has a feather's weight of worth. Without a woman in it."

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia cures all stomach troubles. F. P. Frisbie.

If the phoenix of common sense rises from the ashes of a fool's money the conflagration has not been in vain.

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy Dr. Witt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." F. P. Frisbie.

His telephone number is 122, and if you will call him up, the carriage will call for you and take you to the train in plenty of time. His charge is very small, and the service first-class. A call left at the Garrard hotel will receive prompt attention. Alex. is certainly entitled to much praise for his enterprise.

INASMUCH.

There's a song of welcome waits Every life of pure endeavor; Every work that love creates Lives on high, a name forever. Humble hearts may hide their worth, But the Lord Himself will own it. Answering for the suffering earth: "Inasmuch as ye have done it Unto these."

Unto these, In your mission of relief, In your helpful self-denying, In the touch that comforts grief, In the heart that guides the dying— Whispers Christ of Nazareth, Sweeter than an angel's song, On the other side of death: "Inasmuch as ye have done it Unto these."

Allen Deeks are wandering where? Look the lion, wolf and leopard; Something worth His love is there? Find the sheep that have no shepherd. Take to Him a rescued soul, And His joy for you who won it. Wait on Heaven's golden roll: "Inasmuch as ye have done it Unto these."

Fill the empty, fill the lost, Buy the slave the right God gave him, Prize the sinner at his cost. To the heart that has no life, And the dead, though incomplete, Bears His signal star upon it. When you lay it at His feet, "Inasmuch as ye have done it Unto these."

—Rev. Theron Brown, in S. S. Times.

ONE OF THE OLDEST COPIES.

Most Ancient Manuscript from Paul's Epistles. Where is Probably the Work of a Schoolboy's Hand.

Eight miles west of the Nile and 150 miles south of Cairo, among the ruins of an ancient Greek city, were found not long ago by Drs. Grenfell and Hunt, of the Egyptian exploration fund, great numbers of early papyrus manuscripts. These appear to have been "dumped" with the litter of registry offices and monastic cloisters, and the dry climate of Egypt preserved them. Some of these relics were found to be fragments of the New Testament. Scholars who have examined a bit of manuscript containing the first seven verses of the Epistle to the Romans suggest that it is part of a writing exercise by a schoolboy, learners of that day being assigned practice pages of Bible Greek.

Errors of spelling and crudities of hand betray the tyro in penmanship, although the prevailing style of script among primitive copyists is followed—almost all capital letters, without punctuation or spaces between the words, and abbreviations for customary names and phrases, to save labor. In the Greek text here shown "God," "Son of God" and "Jesus Christ" are synecdoches in this way—under a horizontal line or vinculum.

If a modern schoolboy could know that his copy book or letter would be read by half the world a thousand years hence, it would naturally sober him to his lesson. He would be apt to write good words and write them well.

This curious scrap of one of St. Paul's epistles, with its history, is evidence that at the time it was penned, possibly in the reign of Constantine about 316 A. D., the New Testament writings were already common literature. No other manuscript of St. Paul's writings has been found so ancient as this. Along with it, among the old waste-basket empties buried 1,700 years at Oxyrhynchus, the field men of the Egypt exploration fund discovered other Scripture fragments, one of which indirectly settles a disputed date in the second chapter of St. Luke's Gospel. A torn leaf on which is verses of the first chapter of Matthew are legible traces of evidence of being one of the oldest manuscript fragments of the New Testament yet found—possibly not later than the early part of the third century. At that time 150-200 A. D.—some of the original writings of the apostles and evangelists themselves must have been still accessible.

Modern discovery makes neighbors of the oldest and the latest time. It is almost a common saying that the farther we remove from the past the more we know of it. It is a more confident saying of the Christian faith that is worth preserving. Archaeology has proved itself the friend of the Bible instead of the enemy of it. By faithful research in buried ruins it has helped to fulfill for the sacred book the prophecy in one of its pages that "Truth shall spring out of the earth."—Youth's Companion.

Easy Times Are Hardest.

Having an easy time would be having a hard time in life. A man who always has an easy time is not to be envied, but to be pitied. He has not himself the most personal enjoyment. He cannot be of the most service or help to others. Strength comes by exercise. Attainment is made by overcoming obstacles and hindrances, by climbing, not by sliding. We ought to be most grateful to God when He makes our lot a trying one. Not what we want, but what God knows to be best for us, is what we ought to desire from God, and what we ought to thank God for.—S. S. Times.
